

T The Fountain Hills TIMES

Names and Faces

Bachman has top sales spot

Elma Bachman retained her position as the top sales person for November at Anderson Group Real Estate.

With $2 million in sales, Bachman continues to excel in resale properties and has survived two major recessions, said Nola Anderson owner/broker for the firm.

“Her enthusiasm and expert real estate knowledge has afforded a following of thousands of buyers and sellers,” said Anderson.

“In this volatile and ever changing real estate market, Elma specializes in high-end homes, bank-owned, short-sale consulting for owners caught in the decline of home values, as well as, expert and aggressive marketing for all sellers.”

Bachman’s full-time licensed assistant, Pam Ehrlich, is at her side to provide marketing support for buyers and sellers.

Bachman hits the ground running in 1988 representing new construction home sales. A year later she joined Nola Anderson’s N.J. Anderson and Associates.

She represents five different builders, including Allen West and served more than 700 new home buyers.

Bachman is a wife, mother and grandmother. Anderson said Bachman demonstrates spiritual dedication to kindness, honesty and caring for everyone she serves daily.

“Her team spirit earns her the respect and admiration from our office agents as well as all Fountain Hills Realtors®,” she added.

Bachman can be contacted at Anderson Group Real Estate office in the Safeway Plaza at 837-1331 ext. 209 or directly at (602) 743-0000.